

500 SOLICITORS FOR RED CROSS BEGIN CANVASS

More than 500 solicitors started work throughout most of the county today as the Adams county chapter of the Red Cross launched its drive for $14,000 for 1951.

Red Cross Sunday was observed in many of the churches of the county yesterday and final district rallies are being held early this week as Campaign Chairman Harry D. Ridinger, his co-chairman, John C. Stahle, and district leaders pushed efforts to complete the drive by March 15.

"The goal of $14,000 has been set by the board of directors because of new and expanded responsibilities of the Red Cross," Chairman Ridinger said. "The great expansion of the armed forces brings greatly increased work for the Red Cross through its service to the men in service and to their families at home. Then there are the stepped-up programs on home nursing, first aid and nurse's aide training. Our chapter soon will be actively participating in the blood donor program while we continue to perform all of the regular peacetime services."

GIRL TELLS OF CONDITIONS ON GERMAN FARMS

"German farmers are very receptive to American ideals—they want to know all about us," Elaine Serfass, a Gettysburg college student who spent the past summer and fall in Germany as an exchange student, told 200 Adams county farmers gathered Saturday afternoon at Gettysburg high school for the 35th annual meeting of the county Agricultural Extension association.

She also added, "The young people on the farms of Germany have the same ideals that young people have here, but they have a much more difficult time in achieving their goals."

The local college student described conditions in six different communities of Germany where she resided with German farm families under the exchange student program. She said that the German farmers generally live in communities with the farm land lying around the town. "An average farmer might have 12 to 15 acres of land divided into strips lying miles apart. On one farm where I lived, we rode on an ox cart for a half hour to one of the strips, worked there for a time and then rode for a half hour to another strip of land before we could continue our farm work."

Fear Organizations
She added, "The need for land consolidation is recognized by the Germans, particularly the youth. But many of the older folks are still opposed to consolidation of the farms."

Miss Serfass described difficulties attending organization of the German 4-H clubs. "Most of the German young people were forced into Hitler youth organizations, and so they are suspicious of organized youth groups and cautious about joining," she said.

German farmers, she added, "seek to be self-sufficient as possible and the German farm wife does as much work in the fields as her husband. Because the German farm wife spends so much time in the fields there is much less emphasis" (Continued on Page 2)

Tulsa, Okla., Feb. 26 (P)—Here it is, Benna Kay, the story you wanted in the newspaper.

Benna Kay, blonde and blue eyed with her tragic leg braces on the floor beside her, crawled slowly to her mother Saturday night and cried:

"Oh Mama, I can wiggle my toes. That's what I've always, always said my prayers for. I've asked God to make me walk again. I've never said it out loud before. But now I can."

And Mrs. Kime, the mother of two other children—Carl, Jr., 15 months, and Diana Sue, 7—cried:

"Why are you crying, Mama?" Benna Kay, who is six, asked.

"I'm crying, darling," she answered, "because I am so happy."

Preaches On Theft; Thief Steals Cash

New York, Feb. 26 (AP) — As the pastor of John Hall Memorial Presbyterian church was preaching on "who is a thief?" an intruder stole $10 from the change purse of the church choir's soprano soloist.

Miss Doris Hornburg, who reported the theft of her money, said she left her wraps in the parish house before the services yesterday. The theft was discovered after the close of the service.

The Rev. William H. Hunter, the pastor, said an attempt had been made last week to jimmy the desk of the choir director, but nothing of value was in it.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP) — The stock market clung to a steady course today with the aid of selected automotive, aircraft and utility shares. Dealings were at a relatively slow pace. Gains and losses were about equal, but only a few extended to a dollar or more. Despite a generally favorable diet of week-end news developments, many traders were inclined to be wary of large commitments, awaiting the disclosure in Washington of a new formula for relaxing wage ceilings.

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP) — Julius Emispak was convicted today of contempt of Congress. The national secretary of the left-wing United Electrical Workers union was found guilty of refusing to answer questions of the House un-American Activities committee. He faces a possible maximum sentence of a year in jail and $10,000 fine. Emispak was the first of six U. E. W. officers to be tried on the contempt charge.

BULLETS SMASH LEHIGH 74-58; FACE BUCKNELL

Sputtering in the last two quarters after being held on even terms and trailing a number of times in the first half, the Gettysburg college cagers won their seventh straight victory Saturday night by drubbing Lehigh at Bethlehem 74-58.

The victory marked the 13th in 19 games for the Bullets who next meet Bucknell here Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Coach "Hen" Bream's outfit played a listless game in the first half. During the first period the lead changed hands five times and was deadlocked four times, finally winding up with Lehigh in front 15-14.

The second round was a repetition of the first. Coder tied the score with a foul at 15-15 and a goal by Watson sent Gettysburg in front. Lehigh forged ahead 19-18 on four foul conversions by Workman. Goals by Pizolato and Belber sent the Bullets ahead again. The Bream-men held a narrow lead until the Engineers went ahead 33-32 on a goal by Workman. Belber landed a goal to put Gettysburg in front 34-33 at the half.

For several minutes in the third period the score was close but then the Bullets began to hit their stride and built up a 55-49 advantage at the end of the round.

Pizolato, Belber and Resanovich sparked the locals in the last round as their lead rocketed.

Bob Pizolato, who started in place of George Hare who is out with a wrist fracture, took the scoring honors with 23 points while Hank Belber contributed 19 in another sterling performance.

Basketball Playoff At GHS Wednesday

Announcement has been made that Waynesboro and Dallastown high schools will clash on the Gettysburg high floor Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in a Class B District 3 PIAA playoff game.

Waynesboro, a member of the South Penn circuit, was able to enter the Class B tournament because its school enrollment is below the 500 total required for Class A classification.

Cage Championship Game Here Tonight

This evening at 7:30 o'clock the Hanover and Carlisle Junior high school cagers will clash on the Gettysburg high school floor for the South Penn Junior High league title.

Hanover swept through the Southern division schedule undefeated to replace Gettysburg as division titlist. Carlisle took the Northern division honors.

The Falcons are favored to win inasmuch as they hold two regular season decisions over Carlisle. Last year's championship was won also by Gettysburg.

Adult admissions will be 60c. Student tickets will be 30c but all must be purchased prior to the game as none will be sold at the door.

GRAND SLAM TITLE UNLIKELY

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Chances for another "Grand Slam" basketball champion this year appear mighty slim.

At least four teams figure to shoot for the elusive target, bulleysted last season by City College of New York for the first time in history.

But things are different this year. For one, the NCAA field has been increased from eight to 16 teams. Secondly, while CCNY amazed everybody—including themselves—by sweeping the NCAA and NIT titles, it must be pointed out they won all their games in Madison Square Garden, actually their home floor.

In Four Cities

That can't happen this season. The NCAA meet will be staged in four different cities, with the payoff game set for Minneapolis, March 27. The other sites are New York, Kansas City and Raleigh, N. C. Lastly, percentages are against another "grand slam" performance.

But that won't discourage teams like St. John's of Brooklyn, Arizona, North Carolina State and Brigham Young from trying. These four already have accepted bids for the NIT, March 10-17 in the Garden.

As border conference champion, Arizona also has qualified for an NCAA berth. The champions of the 10 major conferences automatically are eligible for the NCAA, which also will pick six independent teams, or "members at large."

St. John's is considered a strong possibility for one of these "members at large" positions. As for NC State and Brigham Young, they need only win their respective conferences to make the NCAA, the official college championship.

BUENOS AIRES GAMES BEGIN

Buenos Aires, Feb. 26 (AP)—A magnificent sports spectacle saw before Latin America never saw before formally opened the Pan American games last night in huge Presidente Peron stadium.

The 2,000 athletes from 18 nations, including the United States, took it easy or practiced today for the start of athletic competition tomorrow.

More than 100,000 Argentines almost filled the 130,000 capacity stadium for the opening ceremonies. By the time President Peron Juan Domingo Peron addressed "Brother Sportsmen of America" and declared "the first Pan American games open" there were only a few scattered patches in the vast circular stadium unoccupied.

Beside Peron stood his dazzling wife, blonde Eva Peron. Cheers for her almost matched those for her husband as she smiled at the throng.

There was prolonged cheering when Avery Brundage of the Chicago, president of the Pan American Congress sponsoring the games, read a resolution in faltering Spanish. It praised Peron and his wife for "making possible" the games and "without whose support it would not have been possible to hold them."

Tickets Available For Title Contest

A few adult and student tickets are available at the Gettysburg high school office for the South Penn conference championship game between Hershey and Chambersburg to be played Tuesday at 8 p.m. on the Gettysburg college floor.

Adult tickets will be $1 and student tickets 50c. Only a few tickets are expected to be put on sale at the door Tuesday evening. Hershey won the first half title and Chambersburg, seven-time league champ, took the second half honors.

A capacity crowd is practically certain. Doors will open at 7 p.m.

The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Col. James D. Paxton, of this place, has been appointed on the State Committee of this Commonwealth, to attend the Great Fair at London, and has received his Commission from Gov. Johnston.

A bill incorporating the Littlestown Mutual Insurance Company, has passed both Houses of the Legislature.

Married: On the 23d inst., by the Rev. L. Gerhart, Mr. Solomon Messner, of Lancaster county, to Miss Susan Coldren, of Adams county.

On the 20th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Sechler, Mr. Jeremiah W. Diehl, of New Oxford, to Miss Isabella, daughter of Wm. Albright, Esq., of Hanover.

On the same day, by the same, Mr. Jacob Forney to Miss Margaret Ann Herman—both of this county.

Steamship Atlantic Safe: The news of the safety of the steamship Atlantic has been received with the greatest of joy. When the Africa which brought the glad tidings, approached New York, she discharged a number of guns in token of the news she bore. When within hailing distance, she announced the safety of Atlantic, through a speaking trumpet, which was received by the assembled crowd with the wildest joy.

The Councils of Boston have unanimously responded to the Proclamation of President Fillmore, and expressed their determination to have its recommendations carried out. In consequence a number of arrests have been made, and the fugitive slaves are leaving the city.

On Monday Mr. McSherry read in place a bill to incorporate the Gettysburg Railroad Company, and presented two petitions on the subject.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
The Town Council have put a street lamp near the western end of Middle street.

The Red Men are fitting up their new hall in Dutera's building on Carlisle street, with a view to early occupancy.

The Centennial Supper in Agricultural Hall on Friday night, in aid of the Presbyterian church, netted about $110.

Several specimens of mineral earth have been left at this office, found on the premises of Mr. John Hartley, in Hamilton township. They have been tested and are said to make an excellent mineral paint. One is reddish brown, the other a light slate color.

Mr. Emanuel Harmon, the original proprietor of the Gettysburg Katsyline Spring, died in New York on Saturday. During the past year the entire interest of Mr. Harmon in the Spring and real estate had passed to Messrs. Whitney & Co.

The Lenten season, especially observed in Roman Catholic and Protestant Episcopal churches, in commemoration of Christ's fast of forty days will begin on March 1, Ash Wednesday, and will end on the eve of Easter, Sunday, April 16.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

NECESSARY PEOPLE

We have to have other people in our lives. Mind, soul and spirit die without them. People are necessary to each other. They are as necessary as seasoning to the food we eat, or as a balanced diet. Perhaps far more. Every day of our lives we are influenced to some extent by some other person. It may be no more than a smile from a stranger, unexpectedly.

There are certain types of people who are necessary to our own development, so if we are wise we will search them out. These people are so necessary that when we lose one we have to hunt for a substitute, the same as a chemist has to hunt for a new material when a certain one is taken from him or he can no longer secure it.

It can well be said that each one of us is necessary to people—some people, somewhere. Perhaps the one next to us! I read of a now famous writer who read the book of a well-known writer, and he was so convinced he could write a better book that he did, and himself became a much greater and more famous writer. How necessary that former writer was to the latter.

I love solitude, but even in solitude I am far happier if some people are around, though there may be no conversation—just people near. There are silent communications that are often more effective and influential than spoken ones. We know next to nothing of psychology. Especially spiritual psychology.

We can be excessively lonely in a crowd or thrilled and stimulated. We have to be a friend of the people or they will be no friend to us. Too many people substitute dogs for people. And so live disappointed lives. Or they take to alcohol. Neither one brings the expected result. People are necessary, but like everything, they have to be selected to suit the case.

Only by trying to get along without people in one's life do we come to realize how important they are and how necessary to balance out our lives. We can't even make friends with ourselves without them!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Next Thing"

THINKING AND DOING

"Tis thinking old what makes you old."

My grandsire used to say,
"But thinking bold will keep you bold."

So laugh your fears away,
But Grandpa, it is said to state,
Thought he could lift a sack
Regardless of its heavy weight,
And almost broke his back.

"Think young," my grandsire said to me,

"And young you will remain.
What once you used to do, will be
What you can do again."
But falling from his horse he spoke
In much the self-same tone:
"It's not my spirit that I broke,
It's just my collar bone."

He never gave up anything
To favor Father Time.
To make the little ones a swing.
A tree he'd boldly climb.
And when he fell in consequence,
And landed on his head,
"You're old enough for better sense,"
My grandma merely said.

Krise-Hoke.—On the 22d inst., in the Reformed church, Emmitsburg, Md., by Rev. A. R. Kremer, Mr. Lewis E. Krise, of this county, to Miss Kate Hoke, of Emmitsburg.

Phrenokosmian Anniversary: A large and intelligent audience assembled in Agricultural Hall on Tuesday night, February 22d, to witness the biennial exercises of the Phrenokosmian Society of Pennsylvania College. The fact that tickets of admission were required, did not seem to reduce the number of the audience below that of former years, while it had a most beneficial effect upon the order and comfort of the occasion.

The stage was decorated with much taste. In the midst of festooned flags, pillars and arches, wreathed in green, portraits, &c., the motto of the society stood out in large gilded letters. The music of Weber's Orchestra, of Harrisburg, was choice.

The orations by the six representatives of the Society were very creditable, in matter and delivery. The subject of the first speaker, Mr. W. L. Seabrooks, of Westminster, Md., was the Greek motto of the Society.

The young gentleman who will be most favorably remembered by the audience for his composure and many good hits, is Mr. W. A. Shipman, of Springtown, N. J. He spoke on "The American Lupus."

The U.S. Bureau of Land Management estimates the spruce budworm has killed enough timber to build 10,000,000 five-room houses.

CLAIM CHIEF ATE BROTHER

Johannesburg, South Africa, Feb. 26 (AP)—A Swaziland chief was charged today with eating his 12-year-old half-brother in a weird ritual of magic to restore his prestige in the tribe.

Four other men were accused of having joined Chief Mahlabindaba Dhlamini in the cannibalistic rite prescribed by Swaziland witch doctors.

At their preliminary hearing at Bremersdorp, one-time capital of Swaziland, all five pleaded not guilty. They were committed to trial in the high court at Mbabane in April.

Authorities described the case as one of the strangest and most gruesome in a long history of ritual murders and witchery for which Swaziland is noted.

The court was told how 12-year-old Solinye was chosen by witch doctors for the young chief's "good medicine." The boy was tied to a fig tree on a river bank until he became a living skeleton, according to the evidence.

Then, after a witch doctor slashed his throat, part of his flesh was cooked in a stew and eaten in the presence of his Christian mother. She was the only one who did not partake of the meal.

Other bits of the boy's body were put into pieces of corn bread and passed around. The remains were thrown into the river.

East Berlin

An investment service for the recently organized Girl Scout troop of Paradise Catholic church was conducted Friday evening at the church immediately after the regular Lenten service of Stations of the Cross.

Raymond L. Hoffman, Sr., whose health has not been very good for several years, suffered a sudden heart attack during the past week while he read a newspaper at his home. He is said to be improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lerew, Sr., have returned after spending a few weeks in Florida in company with Mr. and Mrs. Chester W. Zeigler, York, formerly of here.

Reported Better

Mrs. Jamet R. Eisenhart is improved after several days' confinement to bed last week due to poor health.

The Sebright property next to Trinity Lutheran church is to be occupied shortly by the Heldman family who will come from the York Springs area. The house has been vacant since October when the Robert Shaw family moved to Ayer, Mass.

Mrs. Joseph Eshleman, wife of a local physician, accompanied a friend from Biglerville on a trip to Florida, and expects to remain with her there for about three weeks.

New Oxford

New Oxford.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Noel, who were married a few weeks ago and began housekeeping in Frederick, Md., while the bridegroom pursues his studies at Mt. St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg, visited here during the week-end. Mrs. Noel was formerly Miss Laurel E. Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor. Her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Noel. They were married in Maryland.

Mrs. John Salsgiver, who recently came to live in East Berlin where her husband has accepted a position in the junior high school, has herself accepted a teaching position in Mt. Pleasant township near here. Mr. and Mrs. Salsgiver formerly lived at Punxsutawney.

Miss Amelia Smith, a graduate of Delone Catholic high school, who left in the fall for Baltimore to begin her duties as a student nurse at St. Joseph's hospital, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith, and family, over the week-end.

Doylestown, Pa., Feb. 26 (AP)—William McMahon, 22, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., accused of being the driver of a car that killed an 86-year-old man, is under $1,000 bail today on a charge of manslaughter by auto.

Police witnesses testified at a hearing before Justice of the Peace William Wrigley in nearby Edison yesterday that McMahon's machine struck and killed William Newell Bisbing, Sr., of Doylestown, on Saturday night.

Electric Heated Hotbed is Next Best to Greenhouse

Either Heating Cable or Electric Lamps Will Heat a Hotbed.

Many of the advantages of a small greenhouse may be enjoyed by the amateur gardener who equips his cold frame with an electric heating cable. Cables and thermostats are now obtainable at less than the cost to a townsman of suitable manure, were he able to find it.

Current used for heating depends upon the insulation of the frame, and how early in the spring heat is turned on, but it seldom adds an important amount to the light bill. Advantages are many. There is a much more even heat, which is beneficial to all plants and vital to those that chill easily. It gives a longer growing period, since the heat does not become exhausted, as does heat from manure, which sometimes fails before the outside temperature is safe.

A frame constructed in the usual pattern as used for both hotbeds and cold frames, but there is no need to prepare a deep pit such as is necessary when manure is used to supply heat.

A frame is constructed in the usual pattern as used for both hotbeds and cold frames, but there is no need to prepare a deep pit such as is necessary when manure is used to supply heat.

The frame is sunk in the ground about six inches. Soil is removed within it to an equal depth, and the cable is arranged on the bottom in loops, so that heat will be evenly distributed. The supply wire and cable are both connected to a thermostat, which can be set at the desired minimum temperature, so that as soon as the thermometer falls to that point heat is turned on.

When temperature rises a few degrees above the minimum, heat is shut off, and the variation between maximum and minimum temperatures is much less than with old fashioned hotbeds.

The heating cable is usually covered with three to four inches of soil. It is a good idea to place a sheet of fine meshed poultry wire an inch above the cable, with soil between. Another method is to grow plants in flats, which are placed on a grating just above the heating cable, which is not buried in soil, and thus is always open to inspection. To improve insulation and reduce current consumption, the frame should be banked with cinders, which are covered with soil, to within a few inches of the top.

is recommended. Drenching the soil with boiling water is widely practiced. In this treatment two factors must be stressed. First, the water must be boiling when it is applied. Next, the soil must be thoroughly dried before seed is sown.

There are several named brands of disinfecting materials on the market, most of which are intended for application on the seed just before sowing. These, too, will reduce damping-off.

Many commercial gardeners prefer to disinfect seed bed soils with formaldehyde, either in liquid form before soil is placed in the beds or in a dust mixed through the soil soon before seeding. It is believed that many beneficial bacteria survive disinfection and sterilization with formaldehyde.

One of the most practical ways to employ formaldehyde in this role is to mix 15 parts (by weight) of commercial formalin (40 per cent strength) with 85 parts (by weight) of powdered charcoal or dried sifted muck or infusorial earth. Eight ounces of this mixture to each bushel of bed soil will usually solve the damping-off problem. The formalin must be mixed thoroughly with the carrier and unused portions of the dust stored in a tight container to prevent loss of strength. If added to the soil soon before seed is sown, the dust will not harm seeds or plants, providing the bed is watered liberally at once.

It is advisable to wait 72 hours after mixing this dust with soil into which small plants are to be set. During this time the treated soil should be spread out thin to permit most of the formaldehyde fumes to escape.

Powdered charcoal is most generally preferred as a carrier although infusorial earth will serve, as will muck finely pulverized and dried. Lime does not serve because it reacts chemically with formaldehyde.

Benefits in growing vegetable and flower plants in sterilized soils to prevent damping off do not end with this primary goal. In fact, even greater advantage accrues in more rapid growth, increased plant vigor, more resistance to diseases and fewer losses from insect attacks. All in all, plants started in carefully sterilized soil or from seeds disinfected with one of the commercial mercury compounds will far outstrip those started without these aids.

The editor invites all questions readers wish to ask on subjects of plant diseases. Please enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope when writing him.

LIBRARY AID BILL OFFERED

Harrisburg, Feb. 26 (AP)—County libraries in Pennsylvania will receive substantially increased state aid if legislation now before the General Assembly wins approval. A bill now before the House would increase the maximum state grant to each county from $2,500 to $4,000.

The measure, introduced by Rep. Edwin Tompkins (R.-Cameron), carries an appropriation of $50,000 to cover the state cost.

Commonwealth grants to the state's 28 county libraries are based on a percentage of county appropriations to libraries. The bill would increase state aid ratios on this basis:

Second class counties, from 20 to 28 per cent of county appropriation; fourth class, from 25 to 35; fifth, from 33 to 46; sixth class, from 50 to 70; seventh class, from 75 to 105; and eighth class, from 125 to 175 per cent.

All but six of the 28 county libraries now operating in Pennsylvania use traveling libraries, or bookmobiles, to supply branch libraries located within the counties.

Only 12 counties appropriated sufficient funds to their county libraries in 1950 to qualify for the maximum $2,500 library grants.

Potomac Edison To Issue New Securities

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Potomac Edison company of Frederick, Md., Friday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to issue new securities.

The company proposes to offer for public bidding a $10,000,000 issue of first mortgage and collateral trust bonds dated to mature in 1981. The bidding will determine the interest rate.

In addition the company asked permission to issue 200,000 additional shares of its common stock which it proposes to sell direct to the West Penn Electric Co., at $20 per share. The proceeds will be used in connection with expansion of facilities operated by the company in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The application to ICC is required because the company, as an incidental part of its extensive electric light and power business, operates a 24-mile railway line between Frederick and Thurmont, Md.

They were Adams, Bedford, Butler, Cameron, Centre, Clearfield, Franklin, Huntingdon, Lehigh, Monroe, Somerset and Wyoming counties.

Accident Injuries Are Fatal To Woman

Philadelphia, Feb. 26 (AP)—Dr. Maloise S. Dixon, 51, research assistant at Penn State, died on Friday in Urological hospital three days after she was injured in an automobile accident.

Dr. Dixon was injured Tuesday when her car swerved into a ditch between Carlisle and Gettysburg while enroute to Washington.

Despite head injuries she continued to Washington and returned to State College and resumed her duties.

She became ill Wednesday and lapsed into a coma. She was brought to the hospital here the same day. A hospital spokesman said death was caused by traumatic shock.

It may be bad manners to dip your bread in the gravy but it's good taste.

RADIO

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Jan Murray claims workouts in the bar bells department of a mid-Manhattan gym kept him in shape for his rugged radio and TV schedule.

The emcee of "Songs For Sale," (CBS, Fridays, 8 to 9 p.m.), and the CBS Radio-TV simulcast, "Sing It Again," (Saturdays 10 to 11 p.m.), says the gym work accounts for the fact that he tips the scales today at 200. Not many months back he could just barely coax the pointer up to 135.

It's more likely that Murray's weight increase comes from eating regularly now that he has finally reached success after 14 lean years of plugging away in night clubs and on guest radio spots.

Show business got into his blood when Murray was still a youngster in the Bronx. His mother, a vaudeville fan, never passed up a show in the neighborhood if she could help it. When she was confined to her bed not long before she died, young Murray made a point of catching all the vaudeville programs. He'd come home from the theater and do a one-man re-enactment of everything he had seen for his mother.

Even before he finished schooling, Murray made up his mind to head for a career in show business. Forced by necessity to quit before graduating from high school, he started making the rounds for bit parts anywhere. His routine was comic, but he was dead serious about learning the tricks of the trade.

Success came almost overnight last summer after several television appearances. The paramount theater in New York paid him $4,000 per week during the Christmas season. Jan is the serious type. He is analytical about the things that go into his shows, and spends long hours planning and trying out gags to make sure they ring true.

He is married to the lovely Toni Kelly, formerly of New York's Copacabana club. They met when both were appearing in the Copa's floor show.
